DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the design specifics of the blade as claimed in claim 1, last 2 lines; claims 4-6 & 10, 20 must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s).

As the Examiner pointed out in the previous Office Action, the blade designs of claims 4-6, as also pointed out in the Specification, is for a different embodiment, which is not the same as the embodiment independent claim 14.

It is further noted, that in claim 10, In 2, the rotational axis cannot be mounted on the base plate, as shown in fig. 1, the base plate slightly touches/intersects an inner edge of the plate.

It is further noted, that in claim 20, the base plate is not shaped similar to a radial profile of the blade, since the blade in a radial direction has at least two cutting edge regions (20, 21, 22) with different cutting heights (as claimed in claim 14, last 2 lines).

Therefore the feature recited in the claim(s) is not shown when the device of claim 14 is considered.

The features not shown were not treated on merit. No new matter should be entered.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 3-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by

Ridenour et al (3057140, cited by Applicant).

Ridenour discloses:

In re claims 14, 9:

A blade housing (fig 1, 5);

A base plate (col. 1, ln 70-73) between the blade & the ground surface

The blade (ref 68) with at least two cutting edge regions with different cutting heights (fig 4);

In re claim 3:

Inner section of the blade is a disk (ref 28);

In re claim 8:

The plate is substantially flat & parallel to the rotational plane of the blade (col. 1, ln 70-73);

In re claims 15, 19:

The blade decreases in step (fig 4);

In re claims 16, 18:

The blade is downwards & outward (fig 4);

In re claim 17:

The blade is at an angle between 15 & 45 degrees inclined (fig 4);

In re claim 7:

Art Unit: 3671

In re claim 7:

The outermost edge of the blade is essentially parallel to the ground.

In re claim 11:

The plate has at least one outer recess (fig 4);

In re claims 12-13:

The housing has a lateral discharge opening (ref 118) which opens in the back (see fig 1).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 4-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Martin (4245455).

Martin discloses:

Martin discloses the claimed invention except for showing the base plate being arranged on the front region of the mower.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to arrange the base plate at any location of the blade housing, since it has been held that rearranging parts of an invention involves only routine skill in the art. In re Japikse, 86 USPQ 70.

Martin discloses the claimed invention except for size of the base plate being as large as to extend from the front to approximately a middle of the blade housing.

It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to make the base plate any size, since such a modification would have involved a mere change in the size of a component. A change in size is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art. In re Rose, 105 USPQ 237 (CCPA 1955).

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 3-20 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Applicant's amendment of claim 14 (independent claim), that the cutting material is cut "from the ground surface," in order to overcome Lydy reference has been noted.

In re the drawing objections, the Applicant's attention is directed to the details of the drawing objections listed above.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

7. Applicant's submission of an information disclosure statement under 37 CFR 1.97(c) with the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(p) on 10/1/2004 prompted the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 609(B)(2)(i). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
